The Nathan Lukehart Scholarship - $1,000

To honor the memory of Nathan Lukehart, American Iron Auctions & the Carnahan Family have created a scholarship in his honor. The scholarship is founded on two main principles Nathan exhibited: 1. Work Ethic & 2. Advancement of Skills. This scholarship is meant to not only embody his memory, but cater to the young adults who may not be looking to further their education in a traditional way, but plan to advance in another form of continued education or training. Qualification #1: The applicant must have been working part time while in school and provide the place and supervisor contact. Qualification #2: The applicant should outline within one page how the scholarship monies will be used, if awarded, to further their education or training. Traditional uses may include tuition, books, etc or for nontraditional applicants an explanation of plans to obtain trade related skills such as a CDL, notary classes, tools, or to offset expenses while entering an apprenticeship in the trades.

This scholarship is open to any graduating senior. The application must be within one page and include email and phone contact information for the applicant.

All applications must be submitted by 8:00AM May 16th to Admin@AmericanIronAuctions.com
